

40 NATIONS SIGNED THE NEW TREATY

State Department at Washington Greatly Gratified

Washington, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Forty countries—more than half the number invited—have signed adherence to the Kellogg-Briand pact to renounce war.

Thus the treaty which is attempting to bring about universal peace is rapidly reaching the fulfillment that Secretary Kellogg envisaged when he sought the cooperation of the nations of the world to this end.

Included in the sovereignties to accept the invitation to become party to the pact signed at Paris Monday is Soviet Russia. The Moscow government made clear that it has neither enthusiasm nor admiration for the treaty but accepted it because "it does impose certain obligations upon countries before the bar of public opinion."

The pact, said the Russian note of adherence, "likewise gives the Soviet Union a new possibility of submitting to all the signatory nations a question of the greatest importance to the cause of peace—that of disarmament—which is the one and only guarantee against war."

The speed with which so many countries accepted the pact greatly pleased the State Department at Washington. All of the acceptances were made to American diplomatic officials, except that of Soviet Russia, which replied to an invitation from France, and were accompanied by expressions of thanks for the privilege of adhering.

The most recent batch of acceptances came to the state department yesterday from Yugoslavia, Finland, The Netherlands, Brazil, Panama and Uruguay. The acceptance of Portugal was announced at Lisbon.

The roll of the countries which have agreed to renounce war, in addition to the fifteen original signatories, now stands as follows: Austria, Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Bulgaria, Costa Rica, Cuba, Denmark, Dominican Republic, Finland, Greece, Liberia, Luxembourg, Mexico, Netherlands, Norway, Panama, Peru, Portugal, Rumania, Kingdom of Serbs, Croats and Slovenes, Spain, Soviet Russia, Switzerland and Uruguay.

One of the interesting sidelights of the treaty is the dispatch from Paris which reveals that the inception of the idea for outlawing war was based upon the work of Smith P. Reavis, of The Associated Press foreign news service. Acting purely in his reportorial capacity, Reavis, early in 1927, impromptu Foreign Minister Briand at Paris to send a message to the American people through The Associated Press, that the message Briand sent contained the suggestion that the two countries "draw war between themselves. This idea subsequently was expanded by negotiations between Briand and Secretary Kellogg into the present world-wide treaty.

FORMER DIXON MAN ROBBED ON ROCKFORD ROAD

Bandits Block Highway and Rob Roy Mackley of $55

Rockford, Sept. 1.—When he stopped his car to prevent striking a machine which was drawn across the pavement on State Route No. 5, seven miles west of Rockford late Thursday night, Roy Mackley, Winnebago, formerly of Dixon, found himself covered by the guns of two unmasked bandits, who relieved him of $55.

The hold up occurred at Winnebago corners at 12:30 o'clock as Mackley was making his way to Rockford where he is employed at the Premier Furniture company plant.

After robbing Mackley, the two gunmen signaled to a third who sat at the wheel of the Pontiac sedan which blocked the highway, and one of them called out "All right."

Ordered to Drive On
The sedan was moved to the side of the road and Mackley was tersely instructed to drive on and "be in a hurry about it." He followed instructions.

The hold up was reported at the sheriff's office this morning. The victim of the robbery stated that the two men, who held the guns, were youths probably not more than 20 years old. He gave a description of each and stated he believed he could identify them if he saw them again.

DIXON SYNDICATE BUYS RIVER LAND FROM SAM BENNETT

Beautiful Spot To Be Developed As a Summer Resort

A group of Dixon businessmen have formed a syndicate and have purchased 98 acres of beautiful river frontage opposite Lowell Park from Sam Bennett and propose to landscape and develop the property for the purpose of making it a high grade summer resort.

Summer home sites and a summer hotel site are to be provided for in the plans. There is three quarters of a mile of river frontage in the rectangular piece of property purchased by the Dixon syndicate and it includes some of the finest river property to be found anywhere along Rock River.

Its proximity to Lowell Park will make it doubly valuable as a summer resort and the promoters have high hopes of developing it into a very popular spot for vacationists in the Rock River Valley.

Questioned Youths Shoot Detective

Chicago, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Walter Hoder, 31, a city detective, shot and wounded by one of three men he believed to question when he believed they contemplated a holdup near the downtown business district, is in a serious condition today and 5,000 policemen are hunting his assailants.

Hoder saw the men peering into a restaurant and drawing his pistol, crossed the street to question them. As he talked to two of them the third slipped behind him and shot him in the back of the head. The three made their escape in two automobiles parked at the curb.

PHILLY RUM RING BRIBED HIGH POLICE

Grand Jury Uncovers Scandal and Stirs Philadelphia

Philadelphia, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The finding of a grand jury that police are on the payrolls of bootleggers and have received hundreds of thousands, perhaps millions of dollars in bribes caused a stir today.

The jury's report says also that liquor interests have been protected for years by an alliance of police and "misguided" politicians, and that the menace of gunmen and gangsters threatens to make this city a second Chicago, with target practice held in the streets and human beings the targets.

The grand jury was called two weeks ago to investigate gang murders, bootlegging and other underworld activities.

Judge Edwin O. Lewis after reading the report granted the jury's request to continue its investigation.

Rum rings must be broken up, he said in addressing the jurors, their trail of murder and corruption must be eliminated. If the police department is not purged, he said, by the proper city officials and the civil service commission, he will appoint a commission under the city charter that will have power to subpoena any witness, no matter what his station, to testify.

"I will do this," Judge Lewis said. "If it takes the commission years to complete the task, and if it necessitates the use of the most extraordinary methods ever evolved to combat crime here."

"I have information that gunmen have been hired in the business world of our city. They have been brought here to carry on trade rivalry—the blowing up of business houses, the assassination of business rivals. They do it in Chicago and St. Louis, now they are trying to do it here, but we are not going to let them."

"The civil service commission has the power to find out how many motor cars every policeman has, how many diamond rings, the lavish scale he lives on, the money he has and to find out if he is taking graft."

District Attorney John Monaghan revealed that a graft payment of $10,000 had been paid by the rum ring to a person indicated on account books in his possession, along with other data showing that records were kept of payments to police ranging from $800 a month, and upward and downward.

"Chief Cop $10,000"

The disclosures he said were only "a scratch on the surface" of what further investigation of the seized books of Marks, Weinberg and Company, public accountants, would reveal. Thus far his information concerned a single Philadelphia alcohol plant.

"It would appear from this record," he said, "that these people over a period of five months paid $29,400 to persons designated as 'coups.'"

"Individual entries were there also. One sum of $10,000 was charged this way: 'Chief Cop, $10,000' under this was the full name of a high police official. After this was another, '$800 per month,' then others."

Wholesale Corruption
"It shows clearly," the report continued, "that there has existed in Philadelphia during the last several years a group of lawless men who have violated the law on a wholesale scale, who have flaunted the law with the corrupt connivance of police officials high and low, resulting in the enrichment of its members to the extent of millions of dollars."

"As a regularly conducted part of this unlawful scheme notorious criminals, gunmen and thugs have been put upon the streets of Philadelphia with deadly weapons who have not hesitated to engage in blooded and wanton brutality."

These men without apparent fear of apprehension have committed bribery, robbery, assault, murder; in fact have run the whole gamut of crime openly and brazenly."

Keller, Dixon And Gehant Form a New Law Partnership

Announcement is made today of the formation of a new law firm in Dixon, composed of well known Dixon attorneys. The firm name is to be Keller, Dixon and Gehant, and is composed of Atty. Mark C. Keller, Atty. Geo. C. Dixon and Atty. Grover W. Gehant. The new law firm will have its offices at 108 East First Street and the partnership becomes effective today.

States Attorney Keller will continue to maintain his office at the courthouse and his connection with the new firm will not interfere with the administration of his duties as States Attorney.

DEMOCRATS DOWN SOUTH HAD WILD POLITICAL MEET

Smith and Anti-Smith Southerners Start Throwing Eggs

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 1.—(AP)—The Smith and anti-Smith lines in this southern capital city were fairly well drawn today as the result of an egg-throwing, free-for-all fighting exhibition which threw the first meeting of the Hoover Democratic Club of Richland County into disorder last night.

The whole business appears to have ended in a draw although the Smith men claimed the distinction, at least, of having invaded an unfriendly meeting and succeeded in getting one of their number to make a speech for the New York Governor.

Both that speech and several attacking Governor Smith were accompanied by so much heckling that it was at times difficult to hear the orators and a resolution to call a meeting on September 25 of true "Jeffersonian Democrats" was punctuated with so much catcalling that no one could say whether it had been adopted or voted down.

Then Came The Eggs
The high light of the evening came about when an owner of a bag of eggs got into a rough and tumble during which the bag was crushed. One egg remained intact, however, and this the owner seized and pitched at the head of one of his opponents. It landed squarely and the fighting commenced. For several minutes the free-for-all continued while a group stood on benches and cheered.

Finally restoring order the crowd listened to George W. Beckett, a Smith bolter, make a speech. Promptly half of the audience left the hall and a part of the group remaining demanded a speech from R. Charlton Wright, editor of the Columbia Record, who responded with an address for Smith. Both Wright and Beckett were heckled.

The meeting came to an end by the announcement of H. C. Bailey, Columbia salesman, that he was secretary to the Hoover Democratic Club and a suggestion made to him by someone on the floor that he hereafter call secret meetings because "they will only break up every open meeting."

During the whole show, the campaign portraits of Smith and Robinson gazed down indignantly upon the scene.

McMILLAN'S CREW JOINS SEARCH FOR GREATER ROCKFORD

Stanley Field Authorizes Arctic Expedition to Make Search

Chicago, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Commander Donald B. MacMillan's Arctic expedition for the Field museum has been authorized to proceed to the territory around Greenland to aid in the search for the airplane Greater Rockford and its two lost pilots.

Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer.

The authorization was dispatched by radio to the expedition earlier in the week by Stanley Field, president of the museum, who instructed Commander MacMillan to put forth every effort in a search for the missing aviators, with the provision that the expedition does not unnecessarily risk the safety of its own personnel.

Its supplies are running low and Mr. Field said he did not want the expedition to become frozen in the winter's ice and peril the lives of its own crew.

Just what Commander MacMillan plans to do in carrying on the search has not been learned inasmuch as the museum has been unable to get into radio communication with the Arctic expedition. Thursday night MacMillan radioed world's weather service, authorization and was sending his plans when the signals faded and the museum lost communication with the Arctic explorer. However, it was understood he would proceed to the vicinity around southwestern Greenland where Hassell was last reported seen.

Try To Match Joe Dundee and Young Thompson Of Frisco

Chicago, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Eddie Mack, Boston boxing promoter today offered $40,000 for a 10-round title bout between Joe Dundee, world's welterweight champion, and Young Jack Thompson, sensational San Francisco negro, the bout to be held at the afternoon of Columbus Day, Oct. 12, at the Boston Braves field.

Mack made the offer at a conference with the managers of the two fighters who took it under consideration. Walter Taylor, Cleveland promoter, also made an offer for the fight to the two managers.

BAY RUM AND REAL RUM FOUND IN THE BARBER SHOP STOCK

Welland Barber Fixed To Give You Shave Or Souze

Following complaints registered from the southeast end of the county where it was reported that large quantities of liquor was flowing over the county boundary line from Welland in LaSalle county, into Lee county, Sheriff Ward Miller started action which is expected to dam the supply at least temporarily. Securing the necessary information, Sheriff Miller went to Mendota where after a conference with Sheriff Clark of Ottawa, a search warrant was issued for the McDonald barber shop in Welland. The LaSalle Daily Post-Tribune gives the following account of the raid which was conducted by LaSalle county deputies:

Ever since the prevailing prohibition laws became effective Sheriff Floyd Clark has heard of the drinker who took hair tonic as a substitute for bourbon, but until last night he never heard of a barber who used a grain alcohol, home brew and moonshine instead of dandruff cures, hair oils or Eau de Cologne.

In a raid on the McDonald barber shop at the little settlement of Welland, north east of Mendota, Thursday night, Sheriff Clark found a large stock of prohibition liquors along with the hair tonics. The proprietor of the establishment was told that he could consider himself under arrest on a liquor charge, and that he was to report in Ottawa for a hearing.

The warrant on which the raid was made was secured by a Lee county man and was turned over to Sheriff Floyd Clark for service. The search of the premises netted a dozen quart bottles of alcohol, three gallons of moonshine and several cases of home brew. The man who secured the warrant charged that McDonald was running a speak easy along with his barber shop and was handing out good liquor with haircuts. The raid was conducted at 7 o'clock Thursday night.

Hearst Statement Stirs Leaders In Political Circles

New York, Sept. 1.—(AP)—A statement by William Randolph Hearst expressing the belief that the Democrats will not be successful in the presidential campaign today caused a stir in political circles.

The publisher's statement, which was cabled from Europe to the Brooklyn Eagle, was taken by Republican leaders to mean that he would support Herbert Hoover in the election although the statement did not specifically pledge Mr. Hearst to that course.

"I do not think the Democrats will be successful in this campaign on the anti-prohibition issue which Mr. Smith injected into the campaign after he had received the nomination," Mr. Hearst says. He gives as his reasons that "the prohibition issue in a presidential campaign is distinctly a false issue," and "the people of the United States do not want Tammany in control of the nation."

Although Mr. Hearst expresses the belief that prohibition is proving a failure in the United States, he is of the opinion that the vast majority of the people of this country have not yet lost faith, or at least hope, in prohibition as a temperance measure.

GENE'S WEDDING WAITS FOR NEW CHAMP TO ARISE

Believe His Fiancee Wants To Get Him Out Of Spotlight

New York, Sept. 1.—(AP)—A copyrighted dispatch from South Bristol, Me., in the Daily News today quotes Miss Polly Lauder as indicating the possibility that her marriage to Gene Tunney will not take place until a successor has won the heavyweight title relinquished by the champion.

"It is our belief," the News quotes her, "that as soon as Gene is really rid of the boxing title, he will be quickly forgotten. As soon as a new champion is crowned, the masses will forget the old one."

"Then we can marry and live in peace. When the ceremony is performed, and we are not decided as to that yet, it shall be done as quietly as possible."

Miss Lauder denied she would soon join Tunney in Europe for a wedding in Paris.

The ex-champion's fiancee said she knew nothing of Tunney's activities abroad. Gene has not written her, she said, since he called two weeks ago.

Miss Lauder is wearing an engagement ring which she described as "charming." The ring consists of a square-cut diamond, about a half inch in diameter, in a lacy platinum setting, inlaid with smaller diamonds. The circle of the ring is also of platinum, set with smaller stones.

Miss Ruby Kelly of Chicago has been spending the past week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Kelly.

PROGRAM AT LOWELL FULL OF INTEREST

Band Music, Water Sports, Boat Races, Etc. on Monday

Plans are being made for the Y. M. C. A. Boys' band to furnish music at Lowell Park Labor Day to add to the attractions of the Water Carnival. With music to create a real carnival spirit, prospects look bright for the Labor Day fete.

The program for the afternoon is exceedingly interesting and will begin at 2 o'clock promptly. Swimming and diving events will begin the activities with the canoe race at 2:45. Then more of the swimming and diving, along with canoe stunts and canoe tilting.

Canoe tilting is an old time stunt in which one individual stands in a canoe which is handled by his partner. It is the object of this team to try to dislodge that one who is standing in the opposing canoe. Each tilter is equipped with a padded pole for that purpose.

The junior 220 yard river swim will come near the close of the swimming events at 3:45.

Demonstrations in life saving will be given by an expert from the American Red Cross at 4 p. m. A canoeing exhibition will follow by a delegation from the Western Division of the American Canoeists' Association.

The speedboat races are planned for 4:30 and will be sure to be exciting as several more boats are planning to enter.

The entire program is free to the public.

TOM MIX FREED OF CHARGES OF BEATING ACTOR

Judge Said He Had a Right to Poke the Comedian

Los Angeles, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Tom Mix, screen cowboy and former Texas ranger, today stood vindicated by the court for using his fists to reply to the "wise cracks" of Will Morrissey, stage comedian, about the future of the silent Tom and his horse Tony in the talking movies.

Mix was acquitted of battery charges in his trial in municipal court yesterday after the judge had declared that the western star had acted only as "any prudent, red blooded man" would act in the battle that came early one Sunday morning at the end of a beach house warming party.

Summing up the evidence in the case, Judge Leonard Wilson concluded that both Morrissey and his wife, Middle Miller, were intoxicated at the time of the after-party struggle; that the comedian provoked Mix by a volley of profanity and that the screen actor had a right to defend himself from the verbal and fistie attack.

Mix brought a supporting cast of film and business notables to the court room with him. They included Monte Blue, Dorothy Dawn, Mary Aikin, Leo Carrillo, Adela Rogers Hyland and Finis Fox, all of the films; Irving Hellman, the banker, and others. They testified as to his character.

In response to a question as to his occupation, Mix described himself as a "rancher and film actor." He testified that he had not taken a drink of "hard liquor" in twelve years.

Rockford Mutuals Play Here Sunday

Sunday afternoon the Rockford Mutuals came to Dixon to meet the Independents on their field at Eighth street and Van Buren avenue and will be accompanied by several autos loaded with fans. Eddie Burns on the mound has been undefeated and the Mutuals now top the Black league and have a one and one-half game advantage over the Independents who are in second place. Read and Lewald will be back in the lineup for the Independents with Reddish and Skelton forming the opening battery. The Independents have been practicing every night this week and are confident of a victory over the visitors.

Monday, the Independents go to Peio where Knauer, former White Sox trial pitcher will occupy the mound.

Albania Back To Monarchy—Ahmed Zogu Is The King

Tirana, Albania, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Ahmed Zogu was sworn in as King of the Albanians before the national assembly here at 4 p. m. today. The ceremony followed revision of the constitution changing the country from a republic to a monarchy, no longer spending the past week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Kelly.

Walter Hagen In Rockford Sunday

Rockford, Sept. 1.—Walter Hagen, international golf luminary, will spend Sunday in Rockford, and appear in a public match at the Rockford Country club in the afternoon. Hagen will start at 2 o'clock and play 18 holes with a foursome composed of William Gordon, course pro and Frank Welch and Anthony Haines, amateurs.

AMELIA EARHART CLOSE TO DEATH LANDING PLANE

Lady Heath's Plane is Wrecked - Occupants Are Unharmed

Pittsburgh, Sept. 1.—(AP)—A plane successfully flown from England to South Africa and back by one aviatrice came close to being a death machine for another woman flier, who had earned her fame by being the first of her sex to negotiate the treacherous Atlantic.

At Rogers Field, near here, last night, Miss Amelia Earhart, Boston social worker, and co-pilot of the trans-Atlantic plane Friendship, cracked up the English plane Averovian. It was once the property of Lady Heath.

As Miss Earhart was making a landing, a wheel became mired in a rut. The plane swerved, stood on its nose for a moment and appeared to stagger in the wind. Then as it seemed certain it must turn over, it settled, nose in the ground with its tail 15 feet in the air. Miss Earhart and her passenger, George P. Putnam, New York publisher, were uninjured.

A lower left wing was broken and the landing gear was smashed.

EUROPEAN CORN BORER REPORTED IN THIS STATE

Radio Commission Issues Ruling On Unneeded Stations

Washington, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The federal radio commission today concluded its decision in cases of stations whose public value had been questioned, deleting tow, extending the licenses of 23 and consolidating several others.

One of the stations ordered terminated, WMBB-WOK, at Home-wood, Ill., had been licensed to operate on 5000 watts, and is by far the largest station so far deleted. WMBW at Youngstown, Ohio, was the other station ordered terminated.

The following stations had their licenses renewed: WMAX, St. Louis, Mo.; and WCB, Springfield, Ill.

Consolidations effected by the station owners or imposed by the commission are the following: WJBL and WBO, at Decatur, Ill. WJBL was reduced from 250 to 100 watts from 6 p. m. to 6 a. m. in order to eliminate interference by that station in regions beyond the service area which it is reasonably entitled to serve. WKBB and WCLS, Joliet, Ill., in both cases the assigned power was reduced from 150 to 100 watts.

"KBS and WLBO, Galesburg, Ill."

G. O. P. Campaign Bus Here Friday

A Hoover and Curtis victory campaign motor bus decorated with flags, loaded with political literature and equipped with an automatic organ will be in Dixon, Friday, September 7, for a short time as this city is on the route of a flying ten-day trip through Illinois on which day and night street meetings will be held in the towns through which it passes.

The tour of one thousand two hundred thirty one miles started Thursday, August 30.

The campaign bus will be in charge of G. M. Wakeman and G. H. Harris who will deliver fifteen minute speeches where stops are made. County chairmen will furnish local speakers and co-operate in making the meetings a success. The tour be under the direction of the speakers bureau of the Republican state central committee.

One hundred and four street meetings will be held in Illinois towns. To complete its schedule in this state the bus will travel one thousand two hundred thirty one miles. On September 7 the bus will visit Woodstock, Harvard, Marengo, Belvidere, Cherry Valley, Rockford, Byron, Oregon, Grand Detour, Dixon, Amboy, Mendota, Princeton.

Stock Broker Suit In Supreme Court

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 1.—(AP)—After three trials in LaSalle county circuit court and three appeals to the appellate court, the suit of James Bennett & Company, stock brokers of Chicago against Samuel Jackson, an investor reached the supreme court today.

Alleging that he had lost $10,000 on the stock market through his investments, Jacobson refused to pay $2,389 demanded by the company. He alleges in his petition for a writ of error that the company was "merely bucket shopping" his orders.

The first two trials in the county court resulted in judgments for Jacobson, but the last one, approved by the appellate court, was against him.

Walter Hagen In Rockford Sunday

Rockford, Sept. 1.—Walter Hagen, international golf luminary, will spend Sunday in Rockford, and appear in a public match at the Rockford Country club in the afternoon. Hagen will start at 2 o'clock and play 18 holes with a foursome composed of William Gordon, course pro and Frank Welch and Anthony Haines, amateurs.

WRECKAGE OF AMUNDSEN'S PLANE FOUND

Pontoon From Lost Ex- plorers Airship Pick- ed Up in Sea

Oslo, Norway, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Discovery of the pontoon from the Amundsen plane is proof that he and his five companions have perished in the opinion of Capt. Otto Sverdrup, noted Arctic explorer.

He believes that the disaster occurred before the big Latham seaplane reached Bear Island on its flight from Thomsen. He bases this on the fact that there were many fishing vessels near the island at that time but none of them saw the plane nor found trace of it in that neighborhood.

The Captain accounted for the pontoons discovery near the outer Fugleoe Islands by saying that it was very light and therefore the winds, which have been from the northwest all summer, would drive it towards the Norwegian coast despite ocean currents setting a different direction.

Tromsø, Norway, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The first definite clue to the fate of Raold Amundsen and five men who accompanied him on his expedition to rescue members of the Noble Arctic party, was brought here today. It was a float from the seaplane in which the adventurers started for Spitzbergen on June 18.

The relic was found by a Norwegian fishing vessel, the Brood. It was picked up near the Fugleoe Islands, a rocky group off this port that is so dangerous to

THE THINKER:
"The Thinker," is a beautiful poem appropriate to Labor Day. By which the steel is wrought, Back of the workshop's clamor
The seeker may find the Thought, The Thought that is ever master Of iron and steam and steel, That rises above disaster
And tramples it under heel!

The drudge may fret and tinker Or labor with dusty blows, But back of him stands the Thinker, The clear-eyed man who knows; For into each plow and sower, Each piece and part and whole, Must go the Brains of Labor, Which gives the work a Soul!

Back of the motors humming, Back of the belts that sing, Back of the hammers drumming, Back of the cranes that swing, There is the eye which scans them, Watching through stress and strain, There is the Mind which plans them, Back of the brawn, the Brain!

Might of the roaring boiler, Force of the engine's thrust, Strength of the sweating toiler, Greatly in those we trust.
But back of them stands the Schemer, The Thinker who drives things through; Back of the Job—the Dreamer Who's making the dream come true!

Supper Honors Johnson Family

Sixty-two members of the Workers' Conference of St. Paul's Lutheran Sunday School met last evening in the church parlors for the regular monthly supper and business meeting. Miss Eleanor E. Powell was chairman of the supper committee and had the tables beautifully decorated with gladioli and candles.

The affair was held in honor of the L. C. Johnson family who are soon leaving for their new home in Flint, Michigan. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, Grace and William have all been tireless workers in the Church and Sunday School, and their departure will leave many hard places to fill.

In token of their esteem the Workers presented Mrs. Johnson with a beautiful silver vegetable dish. An address book was also given her, in which each member present wrote his name and address.
After a short program and business session a social hour was enjoyed at the close of which everyone wished the Johnsons well in their new home and church life.

Dinner-Dance Given In Honor Langs

On Thursday evening the members of the Four Square Bridge club delightfully entertained with a dinner-dance honoring Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Lang, who are leaving Dixon soon for an absence of about a year. Mr. Lang who is field expert at the University of Illinois, will take a post graduate course at the Cornell University, and while doing so, he and his wife will live at Ithaca, N. Y. The dinner-dance was a most enjoyable affair to everyone present. The Langs, since coming to Dixon, to reside, have made many friends here, all of whom regret their departure and hope they will return to make this city their home.

To Entertain for Guests at Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Goodsell are entertaining with a dinner at 6 o'clock this evening at the Dixon Country Club honoring out of town guests, including Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Ames of Evansville, Wis.; Mrs. Thomas Ames of Clinton, Wis.; Attorney and Mrs. Degoy Ellis of Elgin, their son Degoy, Jr., and their daughter, Eloise. Miss Eloise Ellis possesses a charming voice and won the state contest for Elgin High School, in voice culture. She is now a student at Columbia University, and she is also studying voice under the famous New York teacher, Yeatman Griffith. Miss Ellis is the girl of whom Florence MacBeth, the opera star, said, after hearing her sing, "You can sing on any operatic stage."

Bridge Made Easy

Opening Partner's Suit—3

When your partner has declared a suit and opponents have obtained the contract at no trump you should as a rule open the lead by playing your partner's declared suit. As a general guide, your opening lead should be as follows:

1—Holding any four or more cards in partner's suit, lead forth from top.
2—Holding any two cards in partner's suit, lead the higher one.

3—Holding any three cards without an honor in partner's suit, lead the highest.

4—Holding any three cards with an honor as good as J X X in partner's suit, lead the lowest.

These leads conform to orthodox play and by following this convention you will avoid misleading your partner and at the same time assist him in establishing his longest and strongest suit.

If, however, you hold a solid suit or only a singleton in the suit named by your partner, if may be more advisable to lead from your strongest suit for it may be more readily established.

MRS. R. L. VEST AND CHILDREN HOME—

Mrs. R. L. Vest and children Edith Jane and Bobbie, are expected to return today from Brazil, Ind., where they have been visiting at the home of her father, Simeon Yenn and where they attended the annual reunion of the Yenn family. Last Saturday Eugene Vest, who graduated with high honors from Northwestern last year and who is taking a post graduate course, drove to Brazil with his mother and brother and sister and then returned to the city.

SILK CREPE SLIPPERS EVENING FOOTWEAR—

Paris (AP)—Creme de chine has replaced satin as the smart material for evening shoes in Paris.

Only dull gold, or black satin, is holding its place for evening slippers. The pale shoes which are matched, or contrasted, with the delicately shaded velvets, laces and silks, indicated as fall's first choices for evening wear, are of a heavy quality of crepe de chine called crepe mongol.

Gold and silver kid slippers are still the first favorites for the hours of electric light and gaiety.

WILL GO TO CHICAGO FOR FEW DAYS—

THE WOMAN'S DAY by ALLENE SULLOY

The sun bath craze is running smack into our code of morals. Hardly a day passes in any town but what the neighbors complain about Mr. Whosis or Mrs. or Miss Whatis who has been found sunning his or her person quite sans habiliment on the top of a roof or in some back yard or on a supposed scheduled bathing beach.

It seems that not only has everyone heard of what sun baths did for Mary Garden, but they have all read the health magazines and learned that if you take a bath like leave you and shun you. They try this every day, all mortal ills will it. Many of the most sensitive, modest souls have heard the judge say, "30 days and costs," all because the umbrella which they had erected over themselves blew away in a spurt of wind, or because the back yard foliage was not as dense as they thought.

If I were a judge hearing such cases I'd suggest suing the complainer, not the sun bather. Sun bathing is anyone's right, and after all, the passer-by doesn't have to look if he doesn't want to. Sun bathers need protection from the prurient, not the prurient from the sun-bathers.

MEN MORE MORAL

I sat in on a sprightly conversation the other night. The conversation was to the effect that despite all the bunk to the contrary, women were infinitely more immoral than men. "Men talk a lot about their little sins," part of the conversation went. "But women are the ones who do the real sinning. When a woman loves, for instance, she casts all sense of caution, discretion, fair play, to the winds. She wants what she wants and she will have it. A man is much more influenced by results, what his indiscretion will mean to his future. Most men like to think their devil, but it takes a woman to show them how to deceive, be ruthless, do anything to obtain what they want."

I think the speaker was right. It may or may not be in line with this that Dr. C. Leslie Glenn, secretary for college work of the department of education of the Protestant Episcopal Church, says that his work has proven to him that girls' colleges are more irreligious than men's.

ON THE MARRIAGE

Even on the hottest day, as it may be when you read this, marriage seems to remain a subject of interest. Which is why you may enjoy these comments by Christine Frederick in an article entitled "Man's Business and the Woman." "It is a common occurrence in America for men to fail in business, the news coming like a thunder-clap to the wife, who has not had the slightest warning. If she had known her husband, she would have seen the storm brewing even if he never had told her. The very existence of a pride which is not on the husband, but on the wife, about business stress and impending disaster is a significant commentary, not on the husband, but on the wife, certainly on the set of standards which animate both. These standards are dangerously false, they would be ridiculous and rare on the Continent; they are of a piece with materialism and divorce evils in America.

It has often seemed to me that American wives or wives-to-be ask the impossible of their men. They ask material success, which means incomes of $4,000 or over, and they also ask that men play in woman's garden of leisurely interests and culture. It is enormously difficult to do, for winning material success usually demands a man's whole energy."

Any comment would be superfluous!

Woman's Auxiliary Picnic Supper

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church will hold a picnic supper Tuesday evening, Sept. 4 at the church at 6 o'clock. Each member attending is requested to bring their own dishes, silverware, sandwiches and a dish of food to serve ten. Each member having the privilege of bringing a guest, a large attendance is hoped for.

Pleasant Surprise Held on Thursday

Thursday, Aug. 31 marked the birthday anniversary of Mrs. O. D. Flanigan, 802 W. First street, and members of the U-Streamers class of the Christian church planned and carried out a complete surprise party for her.

Friends and members of the class to the number of thirty-one, with well filled baskets, gathered at her home at 6:30 o'clock for a picnic supper. A most inviting birthday cake, made by Mrs. W. G. Wells, teacher of the class, graced the center of the table. The evening was delightfully spent in music and games. Mrs. M. Frey, also a member of the class, whose birthday falls on the same day, was present and received as a gift, a handsome box of candy. Mrs. Flanigan was presented with a lovely mayonnaise dish, and both ladies received the best wishes of all present for many happy returns of the day.

Sunshine Class Honored Mrs. Johnson

On Wednesday evening, August 29, the members of the Sunshine class of St. Paul's Lutheran church held a delightful surprise at the L. C. Johnson home, as a farewell for Mrs. Johnson as the members of the Johnson family are leaving Dixon to make their home in Flint, Michigan.

MR. HOOVER

Washington, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover is ready to rest a while after a week of grinding work at his general headquarters here.

He inaugurates a program of recreation today by visiting Griffith Stadium to see Babe Ruth and the other New York Yankees struggle against the Washington Senators in their desperate effort to retain first place in the American League pennant race.

Tomorrow the Republican Presidential candidate will attend church and spend the remainder of the day quietly at home save for an automobile drive in the afternoon. He has no engagements for Labor Day, but probably will put in a few hours at his office cleaning up a week-end accumulation of mail.

About the middle of next week Hoover plans to leave on a fishing trip of several days in Chesapeake Bay, angling for trout and other fish that abound off the mouth of the Potomac River. He will be accompanied on this trip by only a few personal friends.

While he will sit in a box in the main grandstand, he will munch peanuts along with most of the other fans, but he probably will show less partisanship than the thousands around him. His love of peanuts is second only to his love of baseball and he usually makes at least two calls on a vendor during the regulation time of play.

Winding up the last day of his first week in Washington since his western tour, the Republican nominee had a string of visitors yesterday, receiving reports on the progress of organization work in the south and giving final instructions to James W. Goss of Iowa, western campaign manager, to conduct an economical campaign in the corn belt.

He also received an invitation from Mrs. Henry Breckenridge of New York, to address the annual meeting of the Child Health Association at Chicago in October. He took the invitation under advisement.

CLEANING DRAIN BOARD

Rub the drain board with the inside of lemon peels, sprinkle with a cleansing powder and let stand a while before scrubbing clean. The result is a dazzling whiteness.

MAPLE SAUCE

Nothing makes a more delicious cause for cup custard or bread or rice pudding than hot maple syrup. Let it boil a little and serve as piping hot as possible.

OPEN-CRUST PIE

Fresh fruit pie is really more attractive when only one crust is used. Strip of crust can hold it side by side, or made open and served with powdered sugar sprinkled over the top, it is delicious.

GELATINE SALADS

All left over fresh fruits and vegetables can be used to advantage if you put them immediately into a gelatin salad. Chill and serve at the next meal. Even berries are excellent in salad.

MENTAL ACROBATICS

A new book called "Schools" attracted our attention the other day. It is written by Mr. A. B. See, who has acquired great wealth in the business of manufacturing elevators.

Mr. See finds nothing commendable in the present status of women or education. He laments the day when father yielded his kingship in the home, and finds that school teachers are not doing the right kind of job at all.

If Mr. See can remember the day when father was king in the home, his faculties certainly serve him well. Perhaps the father nominally was king once, and what he said was law, but really the world pretty generally knows that Dad always was more or less a King George, who delivered his message to Parliament and then sat back while Parliament did pretty much as it pleased. Mother nearly always has been Parliament, and her edict the last word.

About education Mr. See thinks the alphabet one all-important thing. Learning of the alphabet, both forward and backward, he asserts, constitutes the basis of good education. Then should come spelling, arithmetic, penmanship, geography and English. Dead languages should be buried and vocational subjects learned by actual performance. Foreign languages are necessary. Psychology means nothing.

Perhaps Mr. See got his idea of teaching the alphabet both forward and backward and in reverse from the increment he manufactures, an elevator being able to go both up and down. But education and elevators are slightly different lines. You might spend a lifetime studying an elevator and still be woefully short on education. And, we fail to see where knowing the alphabet backward is going to help attain the ripe joys of possession of the world's wisdom.

The world is full of mental acrobats now, folk with a one-track or, if you will, one-elevator mind. In their own groove mental acrobats are very efficient—they know their alphabet backward, they know when to press the lever to stop at a given floor and they can tell you any given necessary fact about their own work. But, off their single track, they cannot run; their alphabet is useless.

Precisely what America and the world need is broadening. Mr. See probably could fool a number of his readers on how much cable goes into an elevator's hoist, but most of his readers know enough about an elevator, its intentions, habits and ideas, to get along very well.

Therein is the secret of education—basic principles, and not, we think, in mental gymnastics.

The purpose of education, after all, is somewhat the same as Mr. See's elevators—to lift us all to planes of greater and happier knowledge. Whatever elevators we take should be going in that direction.

LOANS TO SALARIED MEN

New York City seems to have found a way to put the loan shark out of business.

The loan shark, you know, is the usurer who makes loans to salaried workers and generally collects something like 300 per cent before the loan is paid. Usually he operates just within the law; it is almost impossible to put a crimp in his activities.

But now the National City Bank, New York's largest announces it will make loans of $50 to $1000 to salaried people without collateral. Six per cent will be charged and the borrower will have a year in which to pay.

This is a magnificent undertaking. It will enable the poor man who needs money to get it at a decent rate. And observers in New York believe that it will send the loan shark away for good. No one will want to borrow at exorbitant rates when he can get money from a reputable bank for six per cent.

Rev. Dr. John Roach Straton of New York says he prayed for the rain that fell while Al Smith was making his acceptance speech. Tex Rickard ought to try to employ Dr. Straton to keep clouds away from his next heavyweight fight.

The prize for tall corn stories goes to Sarcoxie, Jasper county, Missouri, where most of the corn stalks have been reported broken but still get tangled up in the telephone wires.

A woman can dress now in fifty seconds, says a New York style dictator. Does it take that long?

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

The Tynmites were Indians brave, they gave the little tots a wondrous treat with war-whoops loud and long. They danced a while, and then they stood as close together as they could and sang a lot of notes, supposed to be an Indian song.

And then they brought an arrow out, and all the folks heard Scout shout. "Now watch me shoot this rubber arrow at wee Clowny's head. Course Clowny stood right up, real and shortly reached another tent, where plans for Mister Trainer's trick were very shortly made.

The next thing that brought forth a shout was when these two came riding out on two trained seals that waddled slow, and snorted long and loud. The trainer made his long whip crack, and followed them around the track. It made a very pleasing sight, and thrilled the circus crowd.

The trainer then cried, "Come here quick. We're ready for another trick."

The stunt will take just two of you, so hurry and decide which ones would like to play a part. This trick will be a work of art. "Twill be an other riding stunt in which you'll risk your out," the trainer then heard hide."

"Please count on me to help you out," the trainer then heard Copy shout. And Clowny added, "I'll come too. Don't think that I'm afraid."

So, with the trainer, out they went and shortly reached another tent, where plans for Mister Trainer's trick were very shortly made.

(Copy does some jumping stunts in the next story.)

HENRY FORD TO BUILD VILLAGE OF OLD HOUSES

Ancient Antique Houses To Be Moved To "Museum Village"

New York, August 31—(AP)—Because he does not like "dead museums," Henry Ford is going to build near his home in Dearborn, Mich., a "museum village" of the ancient and historic buildings he has purchased all over the United States and in England.

People will actually live there, in old houses and cottages Mr. Ford has had carefully taken down to be removed from all parts of the country and set up again in his village. They will use his antique furniture and tools and will, as nearly as possible, carry on their lives, both domestically and industrially, exactly as their ancestors did in colonial and post-colonial days.

All sections of the American colonies will be represented by actual colonial and post-colonial buildings, not reproductions. It will have some buildings that date back much further than colonial days—for instance, a 10th century cottage from the Cotswolds in England.

The buildings will be grouped in a loose way about a green, since the village is primarily an old English institution transplanted into New England.

Two sections more modern will be a reproduction of Menlo Park when in 1879 Thomas A. Edison for the first time gave a general exhibition of electric lighting by incandescent bulbs.

Its purpose is educational. Besides being a permanent pageant of America, it is to serve as part of a technical school, illustrating the development of the domestic science and industrial arts in America.

The Physical Foundations of Success

By MRS. ALICE F. LOOMIS, New York City American Child Health Assn.

President Coolidge is the honorary president of the Gorgas Memorial, which has its headquarters at 1331 G Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.)

When a child enters high school he takes a distinct step forward in life. School he is thoroughly familiar with, but school until now has meant one guardian teacher presiding over the whole of the school day, and that teacher usually deeply concerned for the health of her class. Now the young entrant into high school has several teachers instead of one, all specialists in some one subject, but none probably a specialist in health. This means that in a number of unwanted ways such. It is nature's way of protecting him. After protracted exercise he will need considerably more rest than a grown person under similar conditions.

ROCHELLE NEWS

Rochelle—H. R. Lissack, superintendent of Rochelle's graded public schools has found that the average number of school children to each school family in Rochelle is 2.34, or nearly a three pupil average to each Rochelle family having children of school age.

M. Meyer of Ossian, Indiana, is the new instructor in St. Paul's Lutheran parochial school and comes very highly recommended.

Sister Patrice, who for several years has been a teacher in St. Patrick's Catholic school here, has gone to Missouri where she hopes the change of climate will benefit her health. Sister Alfred of Clinton, Iowa, is here to take her place as instructor for the eighth grade.

Tim Pierce, Lowell and Alvin Berg, Richard Countryman and Robert Davidson are Rochelle lads who as members of the Ogle County Calf Club, will exhibit their carefully fed and sleek beef calves at the Ogle Fair to be held Sept. 3 to 7 at Oregon. Thirty choice specimens of beef calves, mostly Herefords, with some Angus and Shorthorns, will be shown by the boy and girl club members, and much improvement will be noted over former years, though they have been successful ones. Judging will be done by Prof. W. H. Smith of

OMAR H. WRIGHT SEES MISTAKES IN OUR TAX LAW

Banker Spokesman Says Laws Are Too Cum- bersome

Herewith is the fourth of a series of articles in which officials of state-wide organizations present through The Associated Press their versions of "What's Wrong with Taxation in Illinois?"

The Associated Press Belvidere, Ill., Aug. 31-(AP).—The spokesman for bankers of Illinois believes that while "taxing will be always a bone of contention," an income tax formulated in a "sane manner" would go far toward correction of existing taxation evils in Illinois.

Omar H. Wright, president of the Illinois Bankers association is of the further opinion that Illinois tax laws are more complex, cumbersome, and inequitable than those of any other major states of the Union—to condition he ascribes in part of the constitutional "Rule of Uniformity" which nears its 110th birthday.

His statement follows:
Enough has been written and spoken and printed upon the tax problem in Illinois to fill a sizeable library. While there is no general agreement in this mass of criticism as to the exact remedies which should be applied, there is almost a unanimity of opinion that the tax laws of Illinois are more complex, cumbersome and inequitable than those of any of the other major states of the Union.

"This fact, perhaps, is not surprising when it is remembered that our Constitutional rule of uniformity dates back 110 years to the time Illinois was admitted to the Union. From a sparsely settled state of a few thousand people with its meager wealth entirely invested in realty in wealth, the latter estimated to be approximately twenty-five billions of dollars.

"Surely it is idle to suppose that any tax plan, perhaps workable over 100 years ago, would be of much value in Illinois at this time.

"The different attempts to repeal, revise, or amend, certain sections of our Constitution are too well known to be repeated. For one reason or another, they have all failed and the so-called rule of Uniformity in the first Section of Article IX still endures. As a result, intangible property in the state pays little if any tax and the grossest inequalities prevail in the taxing of tangible personal property.

"Nor is this the only Constitutional inhibition which fails to accomplish the purpose for which it was framed. Article IX, Section 12, provides that the total indebtedness of any local governmental body may not exceed five per cent of the value of its property as fixed by the most recent assessment. This limitation has been frequently voided when the legislature has created new taxing districts which overlap one another and thereby some areas in Chicago lie within the jurisdiction of six separate taxing bodies with the result that the Constitutional debt limitation is not five per cent but six times five per cent or thirty per cent.

"Through the years, our legislature has been adding to, changing and amending our Revenue laws and while each change is intended to correct some existing evil, it may well be questioned, if any real improvement can be shown in the execution of our tax laws.

"In the meantime, state and local governmental expenditures have increased by leaps and bounds and taxes are being levied in some instances which amount to confiscation of property.

"In 1919 through the insistence of Governor Lowden, the absolute Board of Equalization was abolished and a more modern tax commission, consisting of three members, was created in its place.

In a recent survey of Fiscal problems in Illinois, the National Industrial Conference Board of New York has this to say:
"The focus of the maladministration of the Illinois general property tax is the State Tax Commission. So long as this body continues inactive and unresponsive, the reformed procedure of local assessment. The law with one or two exceptions, gives it full and ample powers. It is the indifference of its personnel, rather than any flaw in its organization, that must be held accountable for the present situation."

"This apparent failure of the Tax Commission to function has thrown the delicate task of attempted equalization of property into the hands of various organizations and unofficial groups, in the State publicity, particularly in Chicago, showing the most glaring inequalities in property assessment. It will be most interesting to note whether the recent order of the State Tax Commission to reassess property in Cook County results in the correction of the manifold present abuses which are generally admitted to exist.

"Summing up, I do not believe that any statutory or constitutional change which will result in the collection of the revenue necessary in Illinois will ever be entirely equitable or satisfactory. The collection of taxes has been criticized and has been a bone of contention since the days of the Caesars. Improvement will be made, by awakening public sentiment to the necessity of curtailing public expenditures and an entire revision of local governmental accounting and budgetary methods, followed by detailed and definite publicity as to where the money comes from and where it goes.

No real accomplishment will be recorded in the collection of personal property levies until our Constitution is amended.

THIS TOWN MEANS IT. WHEN CURFEW RINGS. Paris (AP)—A "10 o'clock town" in the provinces has produced a humorous hotel notice that tells its own story. It is hung at night on the front door which is locked when the clock reaches the curfew hour. It reads:

"At the first ring of the bell the watchman does not stir. If the second ring he gets up and lights an electric lamp to show that he is up."

"When he lights a second lamp, the traveler may know that the watchman has put on his trousers and is going to open the door."

GRIZZLY BEAR BECOMES RARER THAN BUFFALO

Interesting Facts in National Park Game Census

"The buffalo was never half as near total extinction as is the grizzly today."

This is the startling statement made by Will C. Barnes, assistant United States forester, in summing up the annual game census of the national forests as it relates to the grizzly bear, says a Bulletin of the American Game Protective association.

The census discloses that there are only 800 grizzly bears in the national forests of the United States, outside of Alaska, and 50 per cent of these are in Montana—not a single individual grizzly is reported from any of the national forests in California, a state in which these animals were once abundant.

Nothing could more definitely indicate the necessity for protecting this great carnivorous species, unless it is the intention to pursue it to extermination.

The Alaska brown bear also shows a heavy decrease in numbers since the last census and a definite need for curtailing hunting privileges in the limited area where this animal is found.

The summary of the game census of the national forests discloses the following footings:

Antelope 7,665
Black Bear 51,017
Grizzly, including Alaska brown bear 3,380
Caribou 700,586
Elk 74,179
Moose 7,950
Mt. Goat 19,334
Mt. Sheep 13,248

This census is not an actual count but is the result of close estimates made by men who are constantly on the ground and are keeping tab on game conditions from year to year.

The antelope shows a slight increase, except in the few herds that are in captivity, which do not seem to thrive. Those on open range are doing well and in some instances have become a nuisance to farmers.

It has been found that young antelope can be raised on a bottle successfully. These youngsters become tame and when accustomed to handling can be shipped anywhere without danger.

Deer show a steady increase. In the Kaibab Forest, over-population is still acute and no effective plan has been definitely agreed upon for controlling the size of this herd. Stalking takes its annual toll.

Elk herds continue to increase. The Yellowstone herd is dangerously close to the maximum of 20,000 head. The annual kill of about 1,500 not being enough to offset the natural increase.

Moose are scarce, with mountain goat and mountain sheep show slight increases.

It should be remembered that hunting of game under state laws is permitted on most of the national forest areas. National forest game is not protected by sanctuary, except in certain instances. The United States has the responsibility also for care of the game in the national parks, all of which are sanctuaries.

Repairing Fountain For Coolidge Return

Washington (AP)—For the first time in the memory of the oldest White House attendant the big fountain in front of the dwelling has sprung a leak in its foundation and now is undergoing repairs. When President Coolidge returns from the Bruie, however, it will be thinking as merrily as ever.

The soothing splash of the fountain has helped at least four presidents to forget care and relax in the seclusion of the fern leaf beeches.

The fountain was there in 1902 when the White House was rebuilt. Its silvery drops have fallen steadily through the terms of Roosevelt, Taft, Wilson, Harding and Coolidge.

The quick patter-patter seemed to take on the sound of marching feet to the strenuous "Teddy" in his daily strides about the ground, say statesmen who were there when Roosevelt was president. The sound seemed to be an inspiration to him.

The murmur of the water soothed the taut nerves of President Wilson during the trying war days. It was recalled that the executive liked to gaze out upon the fountain and the waving branches of the shrubbery that surrounds it.

The White House cooies of the Coolidge regime have frisked about the basin's rim seeming to find amusement in getting sprinkled, and once Rob Roy lost his red rubber ball, purchased by Mrs. Coolidge herself, in the pool.

Repairs to the White House and the grounds have been less this year during the president's vacation than in previous years. This is because the place had a thorough renovation last summer. This year about the only repairs necessary have been on the fountain and on the west terrace.

German Sees Wider Uses For Rubber

Berlin (AP)—Replacement by rubber in the near future of the multitude of materials now employed in the manufacture of various kinds of standard ware is foreseen by Alfred Arndt, engineer, and chairman of the association of machine builders for the manufacture of rubber goods.

Herr Arndt bases his prophecy of a revolutionizing spread of the rubber industry on the expected reduction of rubber prices as a result of the recent discovery by Dr. John C. Wichman of Los Angeles, Calif., of

WHIRLWIND

COPYRIGHT 1928 BY NEA SERVICE, INC. BY ELEANOR EARLY

THIS HAS HAPPENED

TAD THORNE and VALERIE WEST are married in a little chapel by the sea, with grandeur and a great deal of holiness. "It's like Val," thought SYBIL THORNE, whose own love affairs had made plenty of talk. "She's making it seem complicated, but that doesn't make any difference. It comes untied these days, however elaborately it's tied."

Sybil, who worships her brother, is exceedingly unhappy because she dislikes Valerie. Her own engagement to CRAIG NEWELL, who is also with her, is because, though Craig is fine and wealthy and handsome, Sybil does not really love him. Years before, her sweetheart, JOHN LAWRENCE, married away to war on the eve of their marriage—and never returned.

Convinced that she can never be happy again, Sybil became engaged to Craig to make her dying father happy. But Mr. Thorne was dead before she could tell him and now Sybil does not know what to do.

Val and Tad go to Canada for a wedding trip, and Sybil goes alone to their summer place at Wianno to prepare for the home-coming of the new bride.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IX

THE town was full of memories. The beach where Sybil had walked with John Lawrence. The lawn about the house where they had strolled in the moonlight.

Everywhere she went a shadowy figure walked beside her. A tall, slim boy in khaki, with hair like gold, and lovelight in his eyes.

It seemed to Sybil that she was closer to John there, where she had learned to love him, than she had ever been anywhere else.

At night she found the place on the beach where he had kissed her first. And she stood, as she had stood that night, with her face to the sea, while the wind whipped her dress about her, and blew her hair where John's cheek should have been.

Then she put up her arms to nothingness, and raised her face to her phantom lover.

"Whatever I do," she whispered. "I'll love you still. Forever and forever, John."

The mist was rolling in in clouds when Craig found her on the sands. "Sybil!" he cried when he saw her there. "Are you crazy, dear? It's cold as the devil out here, and damp. What are you doing, mooning away all by your lonesome?"

"Thinking about you," she lied lightly. He took her hand fondly, and she could see how happily he smiled. Poor Craig. It was so easy for her to please him. Only a little word of affection—a loving smile.

"Sit down," she invited. "I want to tell you something."

He put the coat he carried about her, and she pillowed her head against his shoulder.

"Craig, I'm the unhappiest girl on earth."

"I know, honey."

His arm about her drew her gently closer.

"No, you don't, Craig. You think it's because John is dead, and daddy. And now Tad married. And mother and I at sword's points, because we don't speak the same language. But that's not all of it. Craig. It's something inside of me, like poison. I don't know, exactly. Something that makes me bitter and rebellious and miserable! Oh, Craig, you don't know."

"I think I do, dear."

"Oh, it's dreadful, Craig! Everything's all gone wrong. My whole life. It's something worse than losing PEOPLE. It's losing EVERYTHING. Ideals and dreams . . . and hope."

"There's such an all-gone feeling. As if the bottom had simply dropped out of things. I wish I could make you understand."

"I do understand, Sybil."

"Craig, I'd make a rotten wife."

"You're a morbid little sweetheart, I'll say that for you."

"But I'm dreadfully serious, Craig. I don't think I ought to be married . . . feeling the way I do."

"You're all upset right now, honey. It's sort of a reaction after the wedding. You're tremendously high strung, you know. You let things affect you too much. Valerie's been getting your coat. I knew she would, from the minute I laid eyes on her."

"Tad's probably made a mistake. But after all, that's his funeral. If you could only learn to take things as they are. But you're always rebellious. Seething inside all the time. Popping off like a little firecracker. You've got to learn to take life gracefully, Sybil. Bucking fate is a tough job. We can't do it, little girl. There's no use trying. Life's so much bigger than any of us."

"And mother worships Tad in the same blind fashion. I can understand that all right. I suppose it gives a woman an awful kick to have a splendid son—bone of her bone, blood of her blood—as they say. But as for me—I'm nothing to send telegrams home about."

"First, there was that dreadful war and my poor boy was led to slaughter. And Craig, that drove me nearer insanity than you'll ever know. And then there were the crazy years afterward, when we all went wild. Things happened then, dear, that I'd like to forget. If it hadn't been for my job, I'd have gone off the handle entirely, and hope."

"I loved that job, Craig. In the office from nine till five, busy every minute. Accomplishing things."

SYBIL'S head burrowed a little hollow in Craig's arm, and he held her closer. The only sound about them was the wavelets lapping at their feet.

"Craig," she said, "I ought to be muzzled. Shooting my idiotic head off like a darn fool. Talking in circles, and back where I began."

"Sybil, I want a kiss."

And when she had given him her lips, she settled herself again in his arms.

"I guess I'm getting old, Craig. I haven't had an honest-to-God thrill in ages."

"That's a nice thing to tell me!"

INSTANTLY she was contrite. "Oh, darling, I didn't mean to hurt your feelings. It isn't YOU. It's I. You're adorable, Craigie."

"Then marry me, sweetheart."

Sybil drew her knees up under her chin.

"And now," she remarked, surveying the ocean, "we're back where we started from."

"Please, dear."

"I told you I'd make a rotten wife."

"I know you did. But I want you just the same."

"I tell you what I'll do, Craig. Reluctantly she faced him. "Mab Blake is going to Havana next week. Wretched time for it, I suppose. Rainy season, or something

AMERICAN GOLFERS SMOTHER BRITISH IN WALKER MATCH

Yankees Take Eleven of
The Twelve Points
This Year

BY BASIL G. WYRICK

(Associated Press Golf Writer)
Chicago, Sept. 1.—Further proof of the supremacy of American golfers today was placed in the archives with the records of the overwhelming victory over the British in the Walker cup team matches which ended yesterday.

The invaders were able to salvage only one point out of 12, by the slight, one up victory of T. A. Torrance over Chick Evans in eight single matches after the home players had won all four points in the foursomes. This made the result: America 11; Great Britain 1.

Even some of the individual victories were just as sweeping as the aggregate result. For Bobby Jones, scoring one under par for 24 holes, smothered the British amateur champion by 13 and 12.

Then came Watts Gunn, who although he did not play closer than 13 strokes of par, found his opponent, R. H. Hardman easy and won 11 to 10. And again the feat of Francis Ouimet, who first sprang into fame as a boy by defeating Ted Ray and Harry Vardon for the American open title, in scoring within 3 strokes of par for 29 holes to down the doughty Major C. O. Hezlet, 8 and 7, made the Americans stand out as giants of the links.

Not far behind was Jess Sweetser, formerly American and British amateur champion, who overcame W. L. Hope 5 and 4.

The next widest margin of victory was that of Jimmie Johnston, who took the measure of Eustace Storey, 4 and 2, although he had to play somewhere near par to effect that conquest.

George Von Elm, who finally won 3 and 2 from Dr. William Tweddell, captain of the British team, found the 1927 British champion hard to overcome as the Briton scored 73, three above par in the morning round and was 3 up on the former American champion. Both slipped on the third nine, but Von Elm scored even par on the last 6 holes and eventually changed a 3 down standing to 3 up with only two holes to go.

The sixth Walker cup matches will be held in Great Britain in 1930. There was an informal contest prior to the existence of the cup, and the Americans have won them all but one by such a large margin as this one.

THE AMERICAN LEAGUE RACES TIGHTENING UP

"Goose" Goslin Only
Three Points Ahead
Of Lou Gehrig

Chicago, Sept. 1.—(AP)—With only a month left before the season ends, the races for individual and team honors in the American League are tightening up.

In batting, "Goose" Goslin, Washington outfielder, is only three points ahead of Lou Gehrig of the Yankees; Waite Hoyt of the Yanks is three games in front of Lefty Grove, Philadelphia pitching ace, and the Yankees are only two percentage points ahead of the Athletics in team batting, unofficial averages including Wednesday's games show. In team fielding, Boston is leading by only one point. The 10 leading batters and their averages:

Watching the Big Scoreboard

BY HERBERT W. BARKER

Associated Press Sports Writer
Insidiously the Philadelphia Athletics are cutting into the New York Yankees' American League lead until it has dwindled to next to nothing but apparently it will take more direct methods to dislodge the St. Louis Cardinals from their position at the head of the National League standing.

Defeating the Boston Red Sox, 3 to 2 yesterday, the A's advanced to within two games of the idle World's Champions, the closest they have been to the summit this year.

On the other hand, the Pittsburgh Pirates, driven on by the indomitable will of little Donnie Bush, engaged the Cardinals twice at Forbes Field and got no better than an even break for their pains.

The standing of the leaders today:
Won Lost Pct.
St. Louis 77 49 .611
Chicago 74 55 .574
New York 68 53 .562
Pittsburgh 71 56 .559
Cincinnati 70 56 .556

The Pirates pounded out an early lead off Grover Alexander in the first game of their double header with the Cards, and then withstood the Redbirds' closing rally to win, 6 to 2.

Burleigh Grimes stepped in to check the Cardinals' spurge. Behind good pitching by Jess Haines, the Redbirds had little trouble taking the nightcap, 6 to 2.

The Reds got a lot of hits off Artie Nehf and Hal Carlson but could not make them count and the Cubs won, 5 to 3. Red Lucas was hit freely. Curt Walker, Reds' right fielder, was seriously injured when he was hit in the head by a ball thrown by Woody English, Cub shortstop, in the ninth inning.

Dazzy Vance registered his 18th victory as the Robins gave the Giants their eighth successive setback, 4 to 2.

ZUPPKE LOOKS FOR SUBSTITUTE BACKS FOR U. OF I. TEAM

September 15th. to See
Opening Practice
Session

Urbana, Ill., Aug. 31.—When the 1927 football season opened, Coach Robert Zuppke of the University of Illinois had a backfield problem on his hands with a number of untried candidates. But by the time the Illini had ended the season as Big Ten champions he had developed two backfields of nearly equal power and used them interchangeably.

The opening practice session on Sept. 15 will find Zup with another but different backfield puzzle. He will have several lettermen for a first string backfield, but the development of competent substitutes is a task that faces him.

Jud Timm, Frank Walker and Doug Mills, halfbacks; Fritz Humbert, fullback, and Dwight Stuessy, quarterback, are the returning lettermen who will dominate the backfield, if they live up to their performance of last season. Replacements for these men must be chosen mainly from untried players who have shown promise as members of last year's freshmen squad and in spring practice.

Pete Yanuskus revealed possibly the best talent among the freshmen last year as a ball carrier. He was fast and extremely shifty in an open field. Chuck Hall of Normal, who was outstanding as a freshman two years off, is regarded as a possibility.

E. P. Chaffin was the leading quarterback of the frosh team and may develop into a capable understudy Stuessy job. Hasan, who played with Chaffin, is another signal caller.

While Humbert appears to be the outstanding fullback candidate who will report, he may get some keen competition from S. L. Bodman, a 186-pounder who punts, passes and runs the century in 11 seconds flat. Conover, who specializes in line smashing, and Flood and Robinson are other possibilities for fullback.

Edgar "Cowboy" Nickol, a letterman of two years ago and a squadman of last season, has been used in the backfield at various times.

OBITUARY

BERT EDWIN ALSHOUSE

Bert Edwin Alshouse, youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. George Alshouse, 409 College Avenue, Dixon, was born in Walnut, Illinois, December 4, 1912, and passed away at the family home, August 27, 1928, at the age of fifteen years, eight months and twenty-one days.

Most of his boyhood days were spent in Walnut, where the family resided up to two years ago, when they moved to Dixon. During his residence in Dixon, Bert had endeared himself to his many friends and neighbors, and will be missed by his classmates and teachers, with whom he was a general favorite. At the time of his death he was planning on entering his second year of high school. He was a quiet, kind-hearted boy, always content at home, where he was a source of great comfort to his parents, to whom he was at all times very obedient.

On Easter Sunday, 1927, Bert united with the Christian church of Dixon, where he has been a faithful attendant, and there also his loss will be greatly felt.

He leaves to mourn his early departure, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Alshouse, six sisters and three brothers, as follows: Mrs. Mrs. Junie Fordham, Walnut, Illinois; Mrs. Vernie Hasbrook, Sheffield, Illinois; Mrs. Alice Fordham, Mrs. Hazel Judge, Mrs. Mabel Stetson and George Jr. of Dixon; and Florence, Glen and Howard at home, also a number of nieces and nephews. Arthur, his eldest brother, preceded him in death in 1926.

After brief services at his home at 1 o'clock on Wednesday, August 29, 1928, the sad procession wended its way to the Walnut Christian church, where very impressive services were conducted by the pastor, Rev. Bass. Two beautiful solos, "The Old Rugged Cross" and "Face to Face" were touchingly rendered by Miss Esther Stross, accompanied by Mrs. Lawrence Schoof. Pall bearers were members of his Sunday school class: Kenneth Abbott, Kenneth Mossholder, Richard Newcomb, Arthur Teeter, Clinton

Reynolds and Delbert Blackburn. The floral offerings were profuse and very beautiful, signifying the high esteem in which he was held. He was tenderly laid to rest in Walnut cemetery.

A rose may bloom and wither, A tree may bud and grow, And a child may enter manhood If God hath willed it so. But sometimes fond hopes are shattered.

And the future swept away For a dear one, loved and cherished Who was sent, but not to stay. Though you feel his loss most keenly And his place you cannot fill, You must be resigned and willing To accept God's Holy will.

SIX MINERS KILLED

Fernie, B. C., Aug. 31.—(AP)—Six miners were dead today as the result of an explosion yesterday in the number one east mine of the Coal Creek Collieries here.

The blast believed to have been caused by a blow out of gas, occurred when all of the crew of two hundred except the six asphyxiated, had left the mine at noon.

Several members of the rescue teams were overcome by the gas. The bodies of the victims were recovered.

SO OBLIGING!

DAUGHTER: All right, dad. I'll try to get in in time.—Judge.

Unseen Costs

The railroads appear at first glance to be undersold by certain other means of transportation. Bus fares are frequently less than railway fares, and freight is often carried at lower rates by truck and barge than by train. But these differences do not prove that railway service really costs more. The explanation may lie in the concealment rather than the absence of part of the costs that are included in railway rates.

Railroads pay their own way, and their rates cover all the costs of railway service. That is not the case with common carriers on highways and inland waterways. They use rights-of-way which are built and maintained at public expense. These costs, while they are not covered in bus, truck and barge rates, are nevertheless paid for. The money comes out of the public treasury, to which everyone contributes, and therefore the saving to the public is more apparent than real.

The subsidy is larger than may be realized. Something like 57 percent of the Illinois Central System's investment is in its track structure. The cost of maintenance plus the return earned thereon amounted in 1927 to nearly $36,000,000. That was almost exactly 20 per cent of this railroad's freight and passenger revenue.

No wonder the railroads appear at first glance to be undersold! So would any merchant whose competitor set up to do business, rent free, in the county courthouse or the city hall.

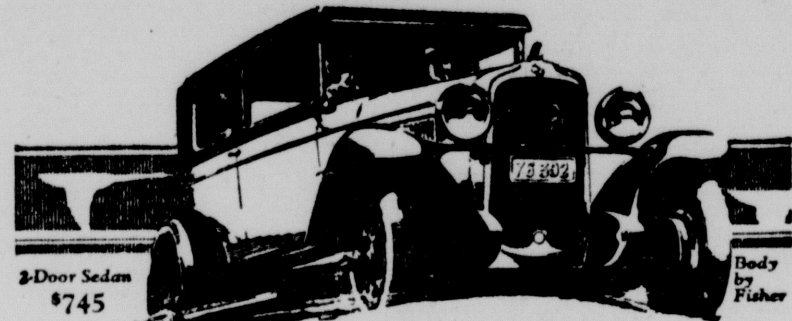

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

L. A. DOWNS,

President, Illinois Central System.
